TODAY'S GOOD NEWS

Home Life Part 1

Ken Packer
www.kenpacker.id.au

For best results:

Though rules and regulations for children are necessary, the rules shouldn't be seen as meaningless.

First, when your child knows the reasons for them, he/she should be more willing to accept them cheerfully. No one likes to obey blindly.

Second, get your children intimately involved. Let them have a part in deciding what is allowable and what isn't. Then they will be more ready to accept what is agreed upon.

Third, in the eyes of some children, grown-ups are able to do as they like! But children can easily be made aware of the true situation.

Help them see that we adults have to obey even more rules than those in the home. We must obey road rules whenever we travel in the car.

Every day we must obey the rules of our employer at the place where we work.

And most important of all, we adults need to obey God's instructions to us in his book, the Bible.

Fourth, we can here easily introduce our young ones to Ephesians 6.1-2 - "Children, obey your parents; this is the right thing to do because God has placed them in authority over you. Honour your father and mother." (The Living Bible).

GOOD NEWS IN BRIEF

The Bible can help our children "Get wisdom" Proverbs 4.5.

Vine Inn BAROSSA Community Hotel

The Multi Award Winning Vine Inn Barossa Community Hotel is looking for a highly skilled, motivated hands on Professional to join our Management team.

In its current incarnation it has a 350 seat Bistro and function centre, three additional function areas, two bars with courtyard and a 34-machine gaming room which would fall under the scope of responsibility of the incumbent.

Additionally, we have a large retail division along with 47 rooms of accommodation over two properties.

You would be required to work closely with the Hotel Assistant manager, Head Chef and CEO to ensure a seamless operation of your sectors of the business.

You would be responsible and accountable for the rostering, training, discipline and professionalism of your team of 26 personnel.

Skills in the H&L point of sale system are required as well as a strong understanding of TAB and Keno operations along with Loyalty systems and BOEN gaming operations systems.

This is very much a hands-on position and will suit a driven and focussed individual who wishes to join a motivated team of people in running our successful venue. The right candidate will have the chance to be involved in the ongoing succession plan of the venue.

If you do not yet reside in the Barossa you will need to be willing to move to the immediate vicinity and, as a Community Hotel, to become involved in our Community through either sports or community service groups.

We anticipate a high number of applications for this sought-after position and will only respond to applicants who fit our specific criteria.

Applications close on Monday June 21st, 2020.
