PACKAGER PET ENCLOSURES

JOB TYPE: Casual. 2-3 days per week, weekdays. Ideally suited to a university student with extra work available during university holidays and occasionally on weekends.

LOCATION: 43 Theen Ave, Willaston SA 5118

Royal Rooster is a fast growing, family run business devoted to providing quality pet enclosures and accessories to customers in Australia and overseas. We currently manufacture chicken coops, cat enclosures, bird aviaries and rabbit hutches.

Primarily we require a person who will package up pet enclosures and accessories for dispatch with TNT for deliveries throughout Australia. This involves using a computerised CNC router to cut cardboard sheeting which creates the large cartons in which the cages are packaged.

Attention to detail is very important and you will be following a checklist to ensure the customer receives all items ordered, and packaged appropriately to ensure the items arrive undamaged.

A secondary part of the packaging role is to package poultry feeders and drinkers for domestic orders and in bulk for export markets. Speed and accuracy is also important here.

While you will be part of a small team, your role will be reasonably independent packaging up cages in your own work area. You can work fast, packing cages at a good speed and can concentrate on the job at hand without distraction. While these cages are quite large in size, the items are not overly heavy so relatively easy to handle. While most items are under 10kg, you will need to be comfortable lifting heavier items around 20kg at times.

This position is ideal for a university student in their first or second year, looking for a part time job over the course of their degree. Royal Rooster has been supporting university students for many years, providing consistent work while also providing a great level of flexibility needed for university students throughout the year.

If you're interested in the position, please email through your resume or drop by our premises. Please include a cover letter telling us a bit about yourself, what degree you're studying, why you would like this job and why you should be selected for this role. Email to Brad and Kerry Mundt: info@royalrooster.com.au or phone 0401295698 if you have any queries. Looking to fill this role asap but are prepared to wait to find the right person for the job.
