Win a double pass to see John Williamson 'Winding Back' celebrating 50+ years

In 2022 Australian music icon, John Williamson will celebrate his 52nd anniversary in the entertainment industry and foresee closing the book on his regular touring. Ahead of this milestone, John will be touring across Australia throughout 2021 and into 2022 as he takes his WINDING BACK tour on the road.

The Winding Back Tour takes in more than 40 dates across Australia through to early 2022.

When John Williamson wandered into Richmond's GTV9 studios in 1970 with a guitar under his arm, little did the Mallee farmer realise he'd make a 50+-year career out of singing and performing.

His performance of 'Old Man Emu', the first song John had ever written, on Channel Nine's popular New Faces programme resulted in a number one single and a record deal.

It also marked the appearance of a striking new talent: an unofficial custodian of Australian stories.

Half a century on, John has made an art of expertly capturing Australia in song. Painting lyrical pictures of the unique fauna and flora, landscapes and people, John has encapsulated the beauty, wonder and, sometimes, heartbreak of life down under.

From boabs to billabongs and snowy mountains to sandy beaches, the Mallee-born songwriter's 52 albums -including 20 original studio albums-have traversed Australia like a dust-covered road train, deftly moving between larrikin humour and touching pathos.

"While I'm not looking to retire just yet, once I've completed my 2021/2022 Winding Back Tour I'll be scaling down my live appearances," John said.

"I've always loved the connection I receive when performing, so you'll still see me popping up at festivals and special events.

"Winding Back' means I'm looking forward to spending more time in the garden and less time away from home."

With his honours including the ARIA Hall of Fame, an Order of Australia, 28 Golden Guitar Awards, Australian Roll of Renown induction, and over five million albums sold and thousands of shows performed, it's hard to begrudge the 75-year-old a less hectic schedule.

In November, 2020, John Williamson's True Blue has been inducted into the National Film and Sound Archives 'Sounds Of Australia', recognising its significance as an iconic Australian song.

Perhaps John's greatest legacy is making Australians proud of their country and of who they are.

The Leader together with the Barossa Arts Centre are giving away one double pass to John Williamson on Saturday, February 20.

To enter, email your name and phone number to: leader@barossaleader.com.au and include in the subject: win a double pass to John Williamson.

Entries close 5 p.m. February 17 the winner will be notified and the tickets can be collected from the Barossa Arts Centre on the night.

Tropical Barossa open for inspection

Tropical Barossa - open garden, at 5 Third Avenue, Tanunda, will take place on 27 and 28 February from 10am to 4:30pm.

Designed for relaxed outdoor living and entertaining, Tropical Barossa is a series of individual yet connected spaces decorated and planted to create an oasis-like tropical style garden.

The owners are interior designers and their long experience decorating houses and an interest in Feng Shui suggests that ideally for comfort and conversation a series of small intimate areas creates a sense of harmony.

As well, attention has been given to ensuring that the areas are cool and shaded in summer but with careful positioning of trees allow winter sun, making the garden usable and pleasant throughout the seasons.

Some spaces are enclosed with glass or covered, others open but protected with Strelitzia nicolai foliage, and in summer with the leafy canopies of deciduous 'Natchez' crepe myrtle trees.

Plants have been selected to appear lush yet all will thrive with minimal water. Palms, trees, ferns, fatsia, ginger, nandina, liriopse and lilies grow rampantly amongst a number of brightly coloured pots, stone lanterns and statuary.

An old door at what appears to be the end of the garden opens to an area of lawn and a superb Balinese hut.

Barossa's tropical oasis

Here and throughout the garden several water features and ponds add the tranquil sound of bubbling water.

To add to the ambience super fine mist can be emitted at intervals, cooling the air as it evaporates.

There is piped music and a small dance floor.

Tropical Barossa is full of good ideas as an entertainers' garden, an inviting outdoor living area and as an attractive low maintenance garden!

Sale Day... Tuesday's livestock sales.

By Barry Chinner

On Tuesdays, the Angaston township would liven up with an influx of farmers and out-of-towners coming in for the weekly livestock sale day conducted by agents, Coles Bros or Elder Smith.

This was the opportunity for buyers to come and get a couple of chooks or, in the case of local butcher Mr Perc Turner, bid for some prime lambs among the woolly creatures.

The Coles' saleyards were just off North Street, not far from Holmes' corner, and the area contained yards for sheep, pigs and cattle.

A separate, small rotunda type building, with seating right around its interior edge, was where the large beasts were led, walking the circle and being displayed to the interested would-be buyers who were waiting to bid.

The Elder Smith yards were on the hillside to the south of the Angaston railway station and both yards had similar facilities.

The cattle-yards at Elders were high and constructed of sturdy looking timber.

It felt safe to take a peek at the bulls that acted like they would very much prefer to be some-place else.

A short distance away among a few gums, there was a corrugated iron 'dunny' where all could see who was attending.

There was also a grand view down over the railway station and the panoramic backdrop of the township and hills beyond.

Quite often, Mr Bert Player could be seen on horseback accompanied by his dog, a Red Kelpie that helped him drive some livestock.

There was usually a great deal on offer at the sales apart from the four-legged animals.

This included machinery, assorted tools, carts, boxes, household items, firewood, chooks, chickens, bantams and ducks.

Any matter of items would fall under the auctioneer's hammer to be carted away to a new home.

Sale day was also yarn and chat day - a chance to catch up with friends and neighbours over a pie or sandwich from the CWA canteen where the ladies sold food and drinks.

For some of the farmers, sale day was the time to grab some groceries or get a haircut while in town or to pop into the pub for a couple of coldies with a mate or two.

Oh no! Sale day!

This will be an excellent opportunity for someone that is seeking to commence a career in business administration, attain a nationally recognised qualification and learn on the job in conjunction with their studies.

The successful candidate will be responsible for:

- Provide general administration support to the Accounts Payable/Payroll team
- Respond to queries via email
- Checking supplier set up/maintenance
- Assisting with Management Reporting and Statutory Reporting as required
- Processing invoices through an Automated Workflow System
- Supplier payment preparation
- Supplier statement reconciliations

To be successful in this role, you must have:

- Excellent team work and interpersonal skills
- Ability to learn quickly on the job and balance the requirements of a formal traineeship with your work
- Exceptional time management, capable of meeting deadlines
- Strong computer literacy
- Excellent attention to detail and accurate data entry skills
- Ability to problem solve

To apply, please send a cover letter and your updated resume to: recruitment@ahrens.com.au

Barossa Village

RUN YOUR OWN BUSINESS IN AGED CARE

Love the idea of being self-employed? Looking for a change in direction? Want to take control of your hours and lifestyle?

Barossa Village has many clients living in the Gawler and Barossa regions who need assistance to stay safe and connected in their homes and we are seeking workers to provide this support.

Working as a service provider with Barossa Village means choosing the hours and type of work to suit your lifestyle, while building meaningful connections.

We are looking for people who are compassionate, responsible and reliable to deliver personal care, social support, transport and housekeeping to our wonderful clients.

While a Certificate 3 in Aged Care, Disability Support or Individual Support is desirable, we can provide work to people who have yet to complete these qualifications. Barossa Village is also in a position to provide educational sponsorship for people wishing to complete the required certifications.

Additionally, Barossa Village will provide training aligned to the Australian Aged Care Standards, and support you in the development and understanding of running your own business.

Key to your success is: -

- A desire to work with elderly clients
- A caring and supportive attitude
- An Australian Business Number (ABN)
- A Driver's License,
- A current Senior First Aid certificate.

If this sounds like an opportunity you would like to pursue, please send a resume to Kristy McMartin, kristym@barossavillage.org by close of business, Friday, February 19, 2021.
