Viticulturist

Rockford Wines was built on a foundation of core principles. These principles are reflected every day in our commitment to direct, long-term relationships with our customers, providing exceptional customer service and preserving the best of the traditional Australian wine trade.

We are now transitioning from the generation who have built Rockford over the last 37 years, to the group of people who are trusted to carry our business into the future. A rare opportunity to join us is now available as our Viticulturist.

This position is responsible for managing all Rockford vineyards. It requires you to work closely with our Vineyard Manager and winemaking team and be responsible for several staff. Because we are a small business, the role is varied and will include hands-on vineyard work, as well as formulating and budgeting the entire viticulture program.

Rockford's established relationships with our grape growers is critical to us – so you must also enjoy working closely with these families as the grower liaison.

This is an opportunity for someone who wants to be part of a family business which makes decisions based on our principles rather than the latest trend. At Rockford we are committed to an excellent workplace culture and offer job security, opportunity and appropriate reward.

To apply for this position, please send your cover letter and application to Amy Heinicke at amy.heinicke@rockfordwines.com.au by Monday May 10th 2021.
